HAU: JOURNAL OF ETHNOGRAPHIC THEORY

VOLUME 13 · NUMBER 2 · AUTUMN 2023

EDITORIAL NOTE Appearance, disappearance, transience Louisa Lombard, Andrew B. Kipnis, Luiz Costa, Raminder Kaur, and Adeline M. Masquelier	Embodied border control on the move: Self-management of Chinese returnees under the zero-COVID regime B.L.
LECTURE From busting cults to breeding cults: Anonymous h/acktivism vs. the (a)nonymous far right and QAnon E. Gabriella Coleman	ARTICLES Ordering being, divining time: Nilotic sacrifice as iconic poiesis: Part 1 – Ikoni Quincy Amoah
From lockdowns (fengcheng) to silence (jingmo): Zero-COVID politics in China Juan Zhang	The entrepreneurial self of market socialism: Life insurance agents in rural central Vietnam Minh T. N. Nguyen
A dissonant lockdown of a post- danwei neighborhood in a third-tier city Yiling Liu	TRANSLATION Ethnology of Indigenous prophetic movements in the South American Lowlands: An overview Virgínia Amaral of zero-COVID N. W	Logic of myth and action: The Canela Messianic Movement of 1963 Manuela Carneiro da Cunha
Food shortage and its discontents during the Shanghai lockdown Minhua Ling	From identity to ID card: Becoming a woman (and) Indigenous in Bolivia Pascale Absi